Tricky Jesus M. - 5th Grade

Tricky the Wolf Pup

I think that Tricky is a good name because all wolfs have to be tricky to catch their prey. They have to be tricky to survive because people hunt for wolfs. This type of wolfs are in danger of enxtinction. And if they are not tricky or sneaky they can't catch theyr prey because there prey would be able to see them and run away. All tyles of animals have to be tricky to trick hunters that are chasing them. The gray Mexican wolfs are kind of tricky to catch theiyre food that they are hunting.

WOLF PUP NAME

Kalan

I am going to call my wolf pup Jesse the reason im calling the the pup Steve because steve a hero with bravery and courages from a game that I played and I thought that it was it was a good name for something that needs to be free and that needs to have a story like a mexican gray wolf. I knew that they needed a story if they did go extinct, that character Jesse didnt have a story until someone did something for him and then he had a story and if someone did something for the wolfs and that could make them a story that possibly could save the wolfs from extinction. So that is the reason I chose the name Jesse. to help the Wolf and save them from extinction.

We All Deserve to Have a Name, Even Animals

Every single living being deserves a name. Mexican Gray Wolves are near extinction and not every single one has been named. I would like to name a Mexican Gray Wolf pup Bela. I think it would be a great name because it means beautiful in Esperanto. Every Mexican Gray Wolf is beautiful in its own way. Only 110 are left and only 48 have been named for real.

I have learned very interesting facts about Mexican Gray Wolves like: it is related or come from gray wolf; they can run very fast, and they live up to 15 years in the captivity. Also, their fur is not completely gray; there are other colors that are visible, like: dark brown, dark gay, or black. Humans are the greatest threat to Mexican Gray Wolves because people shoot them for their fur and because they harm farming. I don't understand why they need to be shot for clothing material when there many other clothing materials, such as, cotton, silk, satin, polyester, or faux fur. The Defenders of Wildlife released 11 Mexican Gray Wolves back into the wild in Arizona.

Bela feels like it would fit any Mexican Gray Wolf because every Mexican Gray Wolf is beautiful on the inside and the outside. Knowing that every wolf has their own personality which also leads to great beauty. I think that Mexican Gray Wolves are beautiful and would be a great and amazing spirit animal.

The name I recommend for a Mexican Gray Wolf is Wolfgang. I chose this name because the name is a good reminder of how wolves live in their natural habitat, where wolves are wild and free. The meaning of "wolf" is wolf and the meaning of "gang" is journey, path, and the way you move. This is a good name because a wolf is always on the move. He has powerful lungs and long legs, so he can keep going for long distances. Wolves travel 50 to 60 miles every day. Did you know that many wolves are held in captivity? My hope for Wolfgang is that he will live free and have a happy life and never get taken away from his habitat where he creates his journey.

The wolves extinction

Did you know that there are only 110 Mexican grey Wolves left in the world? I will be telling you about Mexican grey wolves and what kind of name's there are for them. This is important to me, because we all deserve to have a name. I think a good name for a wolf should be spike because, they are very vicious and protective of there cubs, and before they go extinct. The name spike is important because it says something about yourself. Also they are important because there are only so many Mexican grey wolves left in the world. We should take advantage whiel they are still alive. I wish there were more Mexican grey wolves in the world before they go extinct. I would like to say I wish there were some way for them not to go extinct.

All alone, in the snow
without a name
Now come to me to me with the name of Chester...

Chester forever
until the end of time you will feel the insparation just hearing the name...

Chester is you
Chester is me
Chester is everyone
The name goes throug us...

To inspire
everyone who hears the name, on and on for everyone to know the name...

To have every wolf a name as I want you to have

The Mexican Gray Wolf

By: Alejandro Gallegos

Mexican gray wolves used to roam the wild in thousands. Sadly, they were mostly wiped out in the U.S in the 1970's. They became the most endangered sub-species of wolves in the world. Only 110 (at last count) roam the Wildlands of the SouthWest. It is believed that once the Mexican gray wolf population returns to a healthy number it will balance the SouthWest's wildlife. As the numbers of the endangered Mexican gray wolf species increase, it will keep the deer, elk an javelina population in check. I believe that these majestic creatures should not go extinct because of mans lack of responsibility. I think that a great name for a little Mexican gray wolf pup is Faith because I have Faith in mankinds ability to save them.

Mercuri

Mercuri is a Mexican gray wolf pup, he is an endangered animal. These wolves are also known as "lobas", they have romed throughout South Eastern Arizona, Southern New Mexico and western Texas through the nearly 1900s, and South into Northern Mexico until the 1980 s. All of Mercuri's tribu/family have a keen sense of smell, exelent hearing and highly sensitive vision. They are inteligent, family oriented animals who live in family packs and maitain home ranges or territories. Mercuri and family comunicate by howling, body language and scent making. About 8 to 10 weeks after birth, pups are moved from the den site to a rendezvous site, where they remain white the adults hunt. A pack member often stays behind to "baby sit" the pups. Mercuri's parents kill and eat a variaty of pray, including elk, mule, deer, white tailed deer and javelina. Mexican wolves are opportunsic, and will scavinge dead elk and deer, cattle car casses and hunter gut piles during hunting season. They occasionally pray on live stock, and wild life biologists beleve this behavior could be exacerebated by scavenging on live stock car casses that die from various causes. The packs that Mercuri joins are genarally fairly small, consisting of an adult alpha pair, a yearling or two, and pups of the year. Sorial cohesion in the pack is strong. Adults are very tolarent of the growing pups like Mercuri, feeding them meat brought back from kills. pups establish a dominance hierarchy and tean hunting behavior through play. Prehistoricaly wolf populations were likely stable limited by the numbers of vulnarable pray animals human caused mortaly caused the near extinction of Mexican wolves and remains the primary reason they are still critically endangered today.

The night of Wolves

Sound spread through the night like a wizard flashing his wand casting spells.
Different critters scattered the forest like being Chased,
but there stood the truth,
a big animal,
it stood on a tall rock like it was ruling a kingdom, there on that tall rock stood a wolf,
but not just any wolf.
It was a mexican grey wolf,
And then it found its name
Mago.

"mago" is wizard

If I were to name a wolf, I would name it Bucky. Cuse in my opinion, I think that is a good name for a wolf. Especially a Mexican Gray Wolf pup. Because these type of wolf's are being endangered so they should be named.

Mexican Gray Wolf pups are special because there is only a few left in the world. And these wolfs can be used or taken care of. But now they are starting to be endangered. I don't know how. But maybe it is because of there food process, or because there habitats are being destroyed by human activities.

So if your endangering species, stop. Especially with these species. They are such wonderful wolf's to live in the wild and should be in the wild right now. Don't even try to endangere there food too. So this is why Mexican Gray Wolf pups and other species should never be endangered for nothing.

Because Mexican wolves should be free.
